4.a. Rationale

The rationale for this study is to provide a comprehensive overview of the current state of the CDHS 2016 data. The study aims to identify the key findings and implications of the data for policy and practice. The study is organized into four main sections: 1. Introduction, 2. Methodology, 3. Results, and 4. Conclusion. The Introduction section provides a brief overview of the study and its objectives. The Methodology section describes the data sources and the methods used for data analysis. The Results section presents the findings of the study, and the Conclusion section summarizes the key findings and implications. The study is organized into four main sections: 1. Introduction, 2. Methodology, 3. Results, and 4. Conclusion. The Introduction section provides a brief overview of the study and its objectives. The Methodology section describes the data sources and the methods used for data analysis. The Results section presents the findings of the study, and the Conclusion section summarizes the key findings and implications.

4.b. Comment and limitations

The comment and limitations section discusses the strengths and weaknesses of the study. The strengths of the study include the use of a large, nationally representative sample and the use of a rigorous methodology. The limitations of the study include the potential for recall bias and the limited scope of the data. The study is organized into four main sections: 1. Introduction, 2. Methodology, 3. Results, and 4. Conclusion. The Introduction section provides a brief overview of the study and its objectives. The Methodology section describes the data sources and the methods used for data analysis. The Results section presents the findings of the study, and the Conclusion section summarizes the key findings and implications.

4.c. Method of computation

The method of computation section describes the methods used for data analysis. The methods used include descriptive statistics, bivariate analysis, and multivariate analysis. The study is organized into four main sections: 1. Introduction, 2. Methodology, 3. Results, and 4. Conclusion. The Introduction section provides a brief overview of the study and its objectives. The Methodology section describes the data sources and the methods used for data analysis. The Results section presents the findings of the study, and the Conclusion section summarizes the key findings and implications.

5. Data availability and disaggregation

The data availability and disaggregation section discusses the availability of the data and the methods used for disaggregation. The data is available in both English and Swahili. The study is organized into four main sections: 1. Introduction, 2. Methodology, 3. Results, and 4. Conclusion. The Introduction section provides a brief overview of the study and its objectives. The Methodology section describes the data sources and the methods used for data analysis. The Results section presents the findings of the study, and the Conclusion section summarizes the key findings and implications.
