3.b. Data collection method

MoLVT (Molecular Lattice Vibration Theory) is a computational method used to calculate the vibrational frequencies of molecules. It involves solving the eigenvalue problem for the Hessian matrix, which is derived from the second derivatives of the potential energy function with respect to the atomic coordinates.

3.g. Institutional mandate

The institutional mandate of the TVET system is defined by the legal framework, which includes the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET system is defined by the legal framework, which includes the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.

4.a. Rationale

The rationale for the TVET system is based on the need for a skilled workforce to support economic growth and development. The TVET system is designed to provide individuals with the skills and knowledge needed to enter the labour market. The TVET system is designed to provide individuals with the skills and knowledge needed to enter the labour market.

4.c. Method of computation

The method of computation for the TVET system is based on the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.

4.d. Validation

The validation of the TVET system is based on the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.

4.i. Quality management

The quality management of the TVET system is based on the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.

4.j. Quality assurance

The quality assurance of the TVET system is based on the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.

4.k. Quality assessment

The quality assessment of the TVET system is based on the TVET Act, the TVET Regulation, and the TVET Decree. The TVET Act defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Regulation defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market. The TVET Decree defines the TVET system as the system of education and training that prepares individuals for the labour market.
